NATO was created 70 years ago to contain the Soviet Union which no longer exists. Still, NATO has grown to be a global military alliance.

US/NATO military bases, war games, and weapons are now deployed directly on Russia’s border and around China. A nuclear WWIII could start in a flash.

The continuing development of US “missile defense” systems and space weapons are creating an expensive new arms race.

Militarism is the largest single contributor to carbon emissions on the planet, accelerating our planetary climate emergency.

“The US is already spending $1 trillion a year on our endless war empire. The only way to fund Space Force is to cut Social Security, Medicare, Medicaid and what little is left of the welfare program. Are you going to stand for that?”

Bruce Gagnon

www.space4peace.org
NATO aims to recognize space as a domain of warfare this year. “You can have warfare exclusively in space, but whoever controls space also controls what happens on land, on the sea and in the air.” Jamie Shea, a former NATO official. Reuters

While organizations like Amnesty International have accused NATO of war crimes, the organization avoids accountability because of the shared power of its member countries. It’s impossible to say that NATO has conformed to its original premise to increase freedom and security around the globe. Instead, its role has been one of increasing conflicts, particularly in the Middle East. Clara Trippe, CODEPINK

NATO aims to recognize space as a domain of warfare this year. “You can have warfare exclusively in space, but whoever controls space also controls what happens on land, on the sea and in the air.” Jamie Shea, a former NATO official. Reuters

While organizations like Amnesty International have accused NATO of war crimes, the organization avoids accountability because of the shared power of its member countries. It’s impossible to say that NATO has conformed to its original premise to increase freedom and security around the globe. Instead, its role has been one of increasing conflicts, particularly in the Middle East. Clara Trippe, CODEPINK

NATO aims to recognize space as a domain of warfare this year. “You can have warfare exclusively in space, but whoever controls space also controls what happens on land, on the sea and in the air.” Jamie Shea, a former NATO official. Reuters

While organizations like Amnesty International have accused NATO of war crimes, the organization avoids accountability because of the shared power of its member countries. It’s impossible to say that NATO has conformed to its original premise to increase freedom and security around the globe. Instead, its role has been one of increasing conflicts, particularly in the Middle East. Clara Trippe, CODEPINK

NATO aims to recognize space as a domain of warfare this year. “You can have warfare exclusively in space, but whoever controls space also controls what happens on land, on the sea and in the air.” Jamie Shea, a former NATO official. Reuters